

Teacher: Mr. Eagen
541-790-5146
eagen@4j.lane.edu
<http://staff.4j.lane.edu/~eagen>

Course Content: This elective trimester course will emphasize the elements and principles of art through the medium of 3 dimensional art. Students will experiment with a variety of media including cardboard, papier mâché, modeling compounds, wire, and other various materials. Regular attendance, good behavior, the ability to concentrate, turning in assignments on time, and a sincere effort to understand will result in successful learning. Grades follow. Any student can earn an "A" grade in this class regardless of natural artistic talent if he/she is willing to apply him/herself and take responsibility.

Attendance: Class will start on time and students are expected to be ready to learn when the bell rings. Personal responsibility includes punctuality. Due to the nature and pace of the course it will be very difficult to pass the course with poor attendance.

Behavior: Good behavior, to me, means treating other people with respect, giving yourself and others the chance to learn, and giving me the chance to teach. Behavior which is disruptive or endangers students and/or equipment will not be tolerated.

Colored Pencils: You will need to provide your own personal set of colored pencils. You will use these throughout the term. A box of 12 is the minimum but a box of 24 will be most beneficial. No specific brand is required.

Due Dates: The term is broken into 3 week segments, each containing its own assignments and clear "last chance" date. It will be made clear through several avenues (including the class web site) when assignments are due. Assignments need to be turned in within their corresponding unit time frame. It is essential that assignments are completed during class time. There may be a few specific homework assignments which are due on a specific date regardless of the unit due date.

Grading Policy & Philosophy: I don't give grades...you earn them. If all assignments are completed and follow the criteria, you will earn credit and pass the course. Grades are a result of class work, homework, projects, and tests & quizzes. There are no daily participation points because I've found that students who attend and participate do well—those who don't, don't. The final trimester grade is cumulative throughout the term. If you are interested in a "Pass/No Pass" option, then see the instructor within the first 2 weeks of the trimester. Pass = 65%.

Course grades are based on the following grading scale:

A (100% - 90%)	"You applied it"
B (89% - 80%)	"You learned it"
C (79% - 70%)	"You did it"
D (69% - 60%)	"You squeaked by"
NP (59% - 0%)	No Pass

Late Work: Let's do a reality check folks - late work is not a good experience for anyone. Assignments turned in after their corresponding "last chance" date can only earn a Pass (60%) grade. Three-week segments of time are reasonable. If you find yourself struggling with due dates or dealing with extenuating circumstances, then it is your responsibility to communicate with me in a timely manner so that we can work something out.

Office Hours: You are encouraged to use office hours if you need extra time or help. The classroom is not open on a “drop in” basis during other class periods.

Monday	8:00am, 3:30 - 4:00pm
Tuesday	8:00am
Thursday	8:00am
Friday	8:00am

Food/Drink: No food is to be brought into the classroom...period. Water bottles must have a cap and can't go near a computer.

Cell Phone: Look up, notice beauty, get your hands dirty. Life as we know it won't end if you don't text for 70 minutes. Let's not play the game. Is this clear? Sometimes there is a very legitimate use for the phone as a tool. When this is the case, I expect you to communicate with me prior to using your phone. Otherwise, I'll assume that you're choosing to ignore the wonderful class activities. Churchill's cell phone policy will be followed.

Communication: Communication is a life skill...communication makes for happy students, happy parents, and happy art teachers. Communication is a job skill. Communication. Communication.

What It Boils Down To: This elective class is fun and creative but that does not mean that it's an “easy A” or a “kickback” class. I am here to help you learn and make it interesting but it is up to YOU to take responsibility for your experience in this class. If you're ready to learn then I'm ready to teach.

I understand that not everyone is an artist. Some are, and some aren't. However, I do know for a fact that everyone can learn the foundations of art and that's the goal of this class. If you put in an honest effort and your hands are moving (on task) during class time then you will do fine in this class. You and I will get along just fine and you'll find that you actually enjoy the class.

Units of Study:

- elements of art/design
- paper cutter safety & skills
- chipboard & gummed tape
- construction, stability, support
- color theory - color wheel, harmonies, temperature, value, intensity
- brush control
- wrap around design
- modeling compound - figurine
- non-representational design
- curving chipboard
- cubism, papier mâché, abstraction, ...who knows! Time will dictate.

PRINT student name _____

circle period 1 2 3 4 5

Parents/Guardians: I'm a parent of teenagers myself. I get it; feel your pain. Please help me make this an enjoyable experience for your child by checking in with him/her regularly. I'm not going to overwhelm them with assignments and homework, but they are expected to actively participate and put in an honest effort. Please help me reinforce the importance of personal responsibility and wise time management. Let's address issues sooner rather than later. The best way to initially contact me is via email. I'm a crazy morning person so feel free to call me between 6:15 and 8: 15am if you'd like. Heck, come on down to room C9 and I'll even have a cup of mediocre coffee with you!

Online Syllabus: In an effort to help reduce printing costs I'm sending the class syllabus home via email as well as storing it on our class web site (<http://staff.4j.lane.edu/~eagen/>). Please review the syllabus online and have your child return just this signed page to me in class. Please let me know if you require a physical print out of the syllabus.

Expectations: I understand that not everyone is an artist. However, I do know for a fact that everyone can learn the foundations of art and that's the goal of this class. If your child put in an honest effort and their hands are moving (on task) during class time then s/he will do fine in this class. Please help me reinforce the importance of personal responsibility, communication, and wise time management. This is a life skill.

Cell Phones: I'm on my knees begging for your help in this arena. While there are certainly circumstances where phones can be a useful tool in the classroom, the vast majority of the time they suck students into Zombieland. Phone dependency has become a literal addiction to the point of serious concern. The addictive endorphin release is similar to that of drugs...Google it. Additionally, the distractions caused by phones during class are relentless.

Please help me reinforce responsible phone usage practices in the classroom. There will likely be some times when students are free to use their phones (which I will make clear), but for the vast majority of our time students are expected to silence their devices and put them out of "temptation's reach" for the duration of the class period. The world won't end. They can handle it. They're survivors. They'll live.

Thank you,
Lance Eagen
eagen@4j.lane.edu
541-790-5146

We have had a discussion about personal responsibility, the syllabus, and responsible use of a cell phone. This will help us to avoid awkward and uncomfortable conversations later on.

_____
student sign & date here

_____
parent/guardian sign & date here